While much knowledge about innovation management has accumulated over the years and some puzzles have been solved, new issues emerge and urge us to continue on the journey. In particular, research is required on the future of innovation for a world of 7, 8 or 9 billion people with rising expectations towards a better future. We all – the humanity – are looking for change, changing the offering (product/service), the ways in which it is created and delivered (process innovation), the context and the ways in which it is introduced to that context (position innovation) and the overall mental models for thinking about what we are doing (business model or ‘paradigm’ innovation).
